

CORNERSTONES OF SUCCESS

2014 PCOM Annual Report

■ Mission Statement

Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine is dedicated to the education of students in medicine, health and behavioral sciences. The College fosters the growth of the osteopathic profession by training physicians through programs of study guided by osteopathic medical tradition, concept and practice. Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine is committed to the advancement of knowledge and intellectual growth through teaching and research, and to the well-being of the community through leadership and service.

■ Educational Goals

The College's educational goals focus on presenting high-quality, comprehensive programs of study that embrace the following expectations of student learning:

- Students will demonstrate a central core of biomedical or behavioral science knowledge in their field of study including theory, foundations, clinical skills and applied clinical/practical applications as appropriate to the specific academic program.
- Students will demonstrate communication skills through clinical assessments, group discussion and/or written or oral presentation in their respective fields.
- Students will demonstrate an understanding of scientific inquiry by designing, conducting, presenting or interpreting research in their field of study as appropriate to their academic program.
- Students will identify, retrieve, understand, analyze, synthesize and apply information collected from various sources and in varied formats including those requiring skills in the use of information technology.

The annual report that follows celebrates the "cornerstones of success" laid by our College community this year. We are proud of our new approaches to learning and competency assessment that have been initiated and implemented, of our academic programming that has been affirmed and applauded by national accrediting bodies, of our progress in operations and facilities undertakings, and of our commitment to build and sustain collaborative relationships and strategic partnerships. Each of these cornerstones forms a strong infrastructure of support for our programs in Pennsylvania and Georgia.

We thank every member of our community for your commitment to PCOM. That commitment makes possible our ongoing successes in training osteopathic physicians, physician assistants, pharmacists, and behavioral and biomedical scientists.

Sincerely,

Paul W. McGloin, CPA, LLD (Hon.)
Chair, Board of Trustees

Jay S. Feldstein, DO '81
President and Chief Executive Officer

At Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, we pause each year to reflect on the accomplishments we—a community of teachers and mentors, scientific investigators and scholars, practitioners and healers, colleagues and advocates—have attained in education, research, patient care, and service with national and worldwide impact.

We celebrate the

we have laid, and we recognize, through these valuable foundations, the promises we have yet to keep.

Each cornerstone represents new opportunities to learn, to innovate, to lead. And each cornerstone epitomizes the promise and potential of our College's instructional, research and service missions.

ES OF SUCCESS

■ Building Skills Training and Competency Assessment: THE DR. MICHAEL AND WENDY SALTZBURG CLINICAL LEARNING & ASSESSMENT CENTER

The 11,000-square-foot Dr. Michael and Wendy Saltzburg Clinical Learning & Assessment Center opened in Rowland Hall in January and was dedicated in April. The Center, named for generous benefactors Michael C. Saltzburg, DO '77, and his wife, Wendy, boasts dynamic conference rooms; training rooms focused on endoscopy, orthopedics, cardiology and laparoscopy; an ICU/CCU suite; an emergency room; and an operating room. New additions to the Center include various simulators (including TRAUMAMAN), a portable robotic surgery trainer (akin to the da Vinci surgical robot), and haptic technologies for teaching gallbladder, hernia and OB/GYN procedures. Still under development is a disaster area that will showcase best practices for first responders extricating people from car wrecks, or skills that might be needed in a pandemic or terrorist event.

The Center, which employs safe quality controls, also houses the College's life-size, programmable human patient simulators (STAN, as well as pre-hospital and nursing patient simulators) and an InsightArthro VR System that was previously in use. Furthermore, the Center administers the College's robust standardized patient program, first introduced in the late 1980s under the guidance of the late Robert Berger, DO '58.

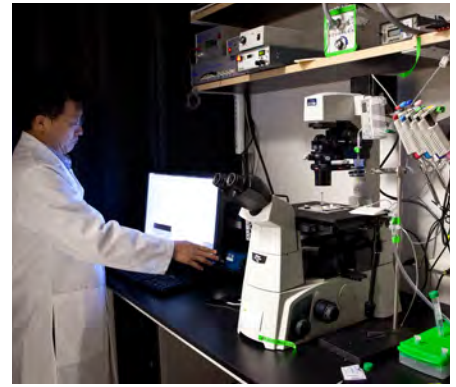

Learning at the Center, which bridges classroom and clinical settings, brings together students in the doctor of osteopathic medicine, physician assistant and psychology programs. This practice underscores the importance of interdisciplinary learning—where various members of the healthcare team learn together to practice clinical skills, develop communication abilities and demonstrate mastery of clinical competencies.

COMPETENCY ASSESSMENT

PROGRAM FULFILLMENT

■ Attaining Program Fulfillment: PCOM SCHOOL OF PHARMACY – GEORGIA CAMPUS

The Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine School of Pharmacy – Georgia Campus doctor of pharmacy degree program has been advanced from candidate status to accredited status by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), 135 South LaSalle Street, Suite 4100, Chicago, Illinois; www.acpe-accredit.org. The accreditation term granted extends until June 30, 2016, which is the customary term for a new program receiving accreditation status. The ACPE sets standards for the education of pharmacists to prepare them for the delivery of pharmacist-provided patient care.

This achievement caps an effort that began in 2008 to launch the new PharmD program and obtain full accreditation. Graduates from fully accredited pharmacy schools are eligible for licensure from state boards of pharmacy.

Inherent within the PCOM School of Pharmacy – Georgia Campus mission is the focus to prepare students for proactive, patient-centered care. In labs during their first three years, students learn vital proficiencies such as measuring blood pressures, interpreting blood cholesterol readings and administering vaccinations. They begin clinical rotations early on, receiving 300 hours of Introductory Pharmacy Practice Experiences in their first three years before completing advanced practice rotations in their fourth year. Rotations provide hands-on experiences in a wide variety of rural and urban hospital and community pharmacy settings. The program also prepares students to be leaders, both as pharmacy managers and as advocates for the profession.

With the graduation of the program's charter class this past June, the impact of PCOM School of Pharmacy – Georgia Campus will be felt statewide. Many of its first graduates have elected to remain and practice in Georgia and surrounding southern states.

■ Partnering for Growth in Scientific Research Opportunities:

PHILADELPHIA COLLEGE OF OSTEOPATHIC MEDICINE AND THE FRANKLIN INSTITUTE

This past spring, as the Franklin Institute prepared to open its doors to the 53,000-square-foot, $41 million Nicholas and Athena Karabots Pavilion, a novel partnership was initiated. The Franklin Institute drew upon the expertise and proficiency of Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine faculty as it sought to obtain sliced and plastinated brain sections for its permanent exhibition on the Benjamin Franklin Parkway—an unparalleled showcase that educates and engages national and international visitors as they gain an understanding of brain function and the promise of neuroscience research.

The anatomical dissections and plastinated teaching models produced by PCOM Department of Bio-Medical Sciences faculty Denah Appelt, PhD; Brian Balin, PhD; and Kerin M. Claeson, PhD, consist of female and male brains of different ages. Specimens are longitudinal slices that match magnetic resonance imaging. The specimens are sourced from the Human Gifts Registry, a non-profit agency of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, managed in part by Michael McGuinness, PhD, for PCOM anatomy courses.

In addition, interdisciplinary PCOM faculty, researchers and students joined the Franklin Institute in a community-wide educational festival (April 25–May 3, 2014). PCOM participants staffed special forensic medicine presentations and led interactive science and medical lectures. The festival culminated in a signature event, Science Carnival on the Parkway, during which PCOM exhibited Mega Brain®, the world's only portable, inflatable, walk-through brain. PCOM researchers were on hand to explain brain structure, function, trauma and disease.

RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

BLENDED LEARNING

■ Blended-Learning Advantage: MORE EFFECTIVE STUDENT ROTATIONS

Blended learning is a relatively new technology-based teaching approach and has not routinely been used for clinical education. Under the direction of Erik Langenau, DO, MS, chief academic technology officer, the method has been implemented—following successful pilot studies—at three of the College’s clinical rotation sites where third-year DO students are engaged in pediatric rotations. Clinical and e-learning methods are combined at these sites; students see patients three to four days a week, and participate in online and web-based programs (remote clinical encounters, case reviews, discussion and reflection boards, etc.) throughout the rotation.

The methods expand teaching from individual clinical assessments to incorporate problem-solving and process-based experiences. In addition, content is standardized across training sites, allowing students at different locations to learn about conditions to which they may not be exposed at their assigned training site.

For instance, a student rotating in an office-based setting may not have the opportunity to see a child in respiratory distress. By being offered instructional opportunities online, these same students will have the opportunity to learn how to care for a child with respiratory distress.

Furthermore, didactic content can be delivered remotely from a centralized location. Often, clinical instructors enjoy having students on their services; however, some report a lack of interest in covering required topics in lecture format. The blended-learning program allows for dissemination of didactic content, encouraging clinical instructors to do what they do best: teach and role model how to deliver quality, compassionate patient care.

The program has been well received by students. The blended-learning program is anticipated to expand to other College disciplines and clinical rotations.

■ A Vision for Facility Expansion: GEORGIA CAMPUS – PCOM

Since Georgia Campus – PCOM's establishment in 2004, there has been an evolving plan for operational and facility improvements to sustain enduring campus growth. Steps have been taken to identify immediate and long-term facility needs for the original 20-acre, 150,000-square-foot branch campus, located in Suwanee, Georgia, nearly 25 miles north of Atlanta. The plan anticipates future buildings, amenities and campus components.

During the past fiscal year, a rear façade construction/restoration work project has been in process. The exterior work is important to the campus' aesthetic design, as well as its energy efficiency. At the same time, the project provides new space for nearly a dozen faculty and administrative offices. Once the project is completed, the result will be a transformation of the campus image.

In addition, the project provides a sense of connectivity to the Northlake building, a second property for the campus. The 21,000-square-foot, 6.7-acre property was built in 2005 and purchased by the College in 2011. Projected plans are for this building to house 34 faculty and administrative offices on the top floor and a newly-expanded Clinical Learning and Assessment Center on the ground floor. Active academic programs and future academic programs such as a physician assistant program (anticipated in 2016), will fully operate within the original campus building, providing training to more than 1,000 students annually.

FACILITY EXPANSION

CULTURE OF INCLUSION

■ Furthering a Culture of Inclusion: THE PRESIDENT'S DIVERSITY COUNCIL

Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine believes that a vibrant and diverse institutional climate is essential to providing osteopathic medical and health science students with an education that promotes the effective delivery of health care in wide-ranging communities. Full inclusion is a central component of the osteopathic identity: mind, body and spirit.

To this end, the College has established the President's Diversity Council, which has completed its first year as a standing committee. Under the auspices of the Office of Diversity and Compliance, the Diversity Council is charged with supporting the president and cabinet in advancing programs that enhance diversity and cultural competency and facilitate pluralistic learning environments that are welcoming, safe and affirming for all. These programs address issues of diversity leadership, student recruitment and retention, curriculum, faculty recruitment and retention, and research.

Work is undertaken through six sub-councils: Military Members, Discharged/Veterans and Their Families; LGBT; Disability and Other Special Needs; Gender, Diversity and Inclusion; Educational Outreach and Community/Alumni Engagement; and Measurement and Outcomes. Recent initiatives on both PCOM campuses have included community food drives for homeless veterans and their families; opportunities for DO and clinical psychology students to provide medical and behavioral care to chronically homeless individuals (in collaboration with Project HOME); new LGBT healthcare resources on campus and enhanced HIV training and certification opportunities for medical students; Yoga on the Steps fundraising for Living Beyond Breast Cancer; proposed policies on religious accommodations; and workshops and lectures that underscore the College's diversity mission, goals and objectives.

Million-Dollar Gift Tops Giving in Fiscal Year 2013–14

A $1,000,000 donation from Wendy and Michael Saltzburg, DO '77, endowed a permanent fund to provide resources to sustain training in the new Clinical Learning & Assessment Center on the Philadelphia campus. Dr. Saltzburg is an orthopedic surgeon in Altoona, Pennsylvania. The Saltzburgs are the parents of Lauren Saltzburg, a fifth-year osteopathic medical student who is earning a combined DO/MBA in healthcare administration.

The Saltzburgs decided to make their gift to PCOM's new Clinical Learning & Assessment Center as a match to a Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Redevelopment Assistance Capital Program grant. The Saltzburg gift is the largest one-time personal gift to the College in its history.

Gifts and Pledges

Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine sincerely thanks alumni and friends who made significant gifts to benefit the College and its key objectives. The following donors contributed $10,000 or more, and the College gratefully acknowledges their gifts:

- Daniel H. Belsky, DO '57, made a gift of $25,000 to establish the Andrew D. DeMasi, DO '47, and Daniel H. Belsky, DO '57, Commencement Award. The award will be presented for the first time in 2015.

- Geraldine Terry, RN '45, the widow of Morton Terry, DO '45, continues her support of the Annual Fund campaign with her $10,000 gift to the College.

New endowed scholarships qualify for the PCOM Trustee Scholarship Program. Scholarship recipients of these new awards will also receive a supplemental grant of $2,500, on average (equal to five percent of the established endowment). Supplemental grants are made in perpetuity from The PCOM Foundation, not from the named scholarship funds. The annual grant percentage of the named scholarships, not including the supplemental grant, follows the Board of Trustees' spending policy. Currently, five percent of the five-year average fund balance, which includes contribution principal, realized and unrealized income at December 31, is awarded.

DO Student Scholarship Fund

The annual DO Student Scholarship campaign raises an essential source of financial aid funding for osteopathic medical students on both campuses. This year, 542 donors contributed $131,573. Half of these dollars is distributed for immediate use, and the other half is added to the DO Student Scholarship Trust Fund for future use.

Reunion Giving Program

This year, PCOM received $244,293 through the Reunion Giving Program. The Class of 1984 led with gifts totaling $77,775, while the Class of 1964 had the highest participation rate of 52 percent.

1899 Society

Seven new alumni and / or friends each made contributions during the 2013–14 year to exceed $50,000 in cumulative giving. In recognition of this distinction, Joseph A. Dieterle, DO '70, member, PCOM Board of Trustees; Leonard Giunta, DO '67; Joseph Hummel, DO '70; Arlene Blanco Leone, widow of Anthony G. Leone, DO '57; Paul W. McGloin, LLD (Hon.), chairman, PCOM Board of Trustees; William McLaughlin, DO '85; and The Rosenfield Family Foundation will be admitted to the 1899 Society at the President's Leadership Reception in November. Named for the year the College was founded, the 1899 Society distinguishes those individuals who have made gifts amounting to $50,000 or more since 1980, when donor records were first computerized. Current membership numbers 74.

Planned Giving Is an Investment in PCOM

Trusts and bequests by alumni and friends continue to be an important and significant source of support for Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine. The Andrew Taylor Still Legacy Society recognizes donors who name the College as a beneficiary of their will, living trust, charitable remainder trust, charitable lead trust, life insurance policy or charitable gift annuity. These gifts are investments in PCOM—preserving the College's preeminent programs and creating extraordinary opportunities in didactic and clinical education; providing student financial aid and scholarships; enhancing student services; supporting research; and extending healthcare and community service.

This past year, PCOM received another distribution from the estate of Margaret E. Burnard. Mrs. Burnard, the late wife of H. Trebing Burnard, DO '38, left a majority of her estate residuary to PCOM to create an endowed scholarship fund.

Report of Donors

The Office of Alumni Relations and Development also received notification of planned gifts established by David A. Bitonte, DO '80, MBA, MPH; David J. Kendall, DO '71; the late Matilda Jane Morris, DO '46; and Gerson Schwartz, DO '53.

Andrew Taylor Still Legacy Society members are recognized annually in this Report of Donors and on the donor board prominently displayed in Lotman Lobby of Evans Hall. Legacy Society members are also invited to the annual President's Leadership Reception.

GOLD Alumni Program

The GOLD Alumni Program—Graduates of the Last Decade—is a new College initiative to increase engagement with young alumni from both campuses. This involves fundraising, social and networking events, and participation in the Mentor Directory as well as in the Alumni Association of PCOM Board of Directors.

The College acknowledges the following gifts from the graduating classes of 2014:

- DO Class of 2014, Philadelphia Campus: Led by class chair, Matthew Speicher, DO '14, the class made possible the purchase of an EKG monitor for the emergency medicine department.
- PharmD Class of 2014, PCOM School of Pharmacy – Georgia Campus: Led by class chair, Shahrouz Dehgahi, PharmD '14, the class made gifts to the Fund for PCOM in memory of John C. Kermode, PhD, professor of pharmaceutical sciences.

Students continue to support the legacy of giving at PCOM. By making a class gift to the College, students strengthen the culture of giving, and this culture ensures a quality educational experience for all students.

Foundation and Corporate Support

A scholarship has been established in honor of Matthew Schure, PhD, former president and chief executive officer, by the PCOM Board of Trustees and the Alumni Association of PCOM in the amount of $250,000. This College gift was presented to Dr. Schure on the occasion of his retirement from PCOM after 13 years of service. The College thanks both boards for their generosity in creating another resource for student financial aid—aid that Dr. Schure sought always to grow.

The Connelly Foundation made a very generous gift of $30,000 to name one of the Simulation Training Rooms in the Dr. Michael and Wendy Saltzburg Clinical Learning & Assessment Center.

The Adolph and Rose Levis Foundation has generously supported Alzheimer's disease research at PCOM since 2002, and made another gift of $15,000 this fiscal year. The Adolph and Rose Levis Foundation Laboratory allows faculty from the Department of Bio-Medical Sciences including Denah Appelt, PhD, and Brian Balin, PhD, to continue their important research.

The Benjamin & Mary Measey Foundation renewed their support with a $35,000 scholarship contribution benefiting Philadelphia-area DO students.

Office Depot increased their scholarship support to $11,422, to be used at the College's discretion.

The Pennsylvania Osteopathic Medical Association District 8 continues to complete its pledge with a payment of $10,000 to the "Smart" Classroom at the PCOM Living-Learning Center in Sewickley, Pennsylvania. This gift provides a valuable resource to the teaching of students on clinical rotations.

The Physicians Aid Association of the Delaware Valley renewed its commitment to PCOM with a $70,000 grant for DO students. This is the third year the College has been gifted with this support.

The Rosenfield Family Foundation made a second generous $25,000 gift to the department of psychology allowing students to complete their paid internship training in pursuit of their doctoral degree in clinical psychology at PCOM.

Walgreens contributed $10,000 to the PCOM School of Pharmacy – Georgia Campus as part of their the Walgreens Diversity Donation program. These funds were designated to the Walgreens Diversity & Inclusion Excellence Award, the Walgreens Diversity Scholarship and the Pipeline Initiative Development program. The company's intent is to raise awareness about cultural competency and diversity-related matters impacting the pharmacy profession.

The West Allegheny Physicians' Association Fund of The Pittsburgh Foundation contributed another generous gift of $19,654 to the College to benefit students from Western Pennsylvania with much-needed financial aid grants. This is the fourth year the College has benefited from the fund's support.

Commitments to Georgia Campus – PCOM

As part of the employee giving campaign, faculty and staff were asked to support the College by making a gift to the Fund for PCOM. Some donors designated their gift in honor of Matthew Schure, PhD, former president and chief executive officer. Others designated their gifts in memory of the late John C. Kermode, PhD, pharmacy faculty member, and the late Dan Warbington, maintenance mechanic.

The inaugural GA-PCOM DO Class of 2009 celebrated its five-year reunion at a special dinner in Atlanta, Georgia. The importance of reunion giving and its benefits were stressed as part of this first reunion event.

In memory of the late John C. Kermode, PhD, the Dr. John C. Kermode Fund was established to commemorate the respected professor in the PCOM School of Pharmacy - Georgia Campus. Dr. Kermode lived his life educating future generations of researchers, osteopathic physicians and pharmacists with exemplary joy, compassion and kindness. The fund was established with a lead gift from the Kermode family and has grown with donations from students, colleagues and friends whose lives were deeply touched by Dr. Kermode's gentle influence.

Grant Support of PCOM Healthcare Center – Lancaster Avenue Division

PCOM Healthcare Center – Lancaster Avenue Division received a $50,000 grant from the Independence Blue Cross Foundation. This is the Healthcare Center's second Blue Safety Net grant from the Foundation to help implement the Patient-Centered Medical Home (PCMH), leading to recognition by the National Committee for Quality Assurance.

The Healthcare Center provides medical and consultative services to patients and families in an underserved, at-risk West Philadelphia community. It is a primary teaching site, and the Lancaster Avenue Center has adopted a continuous and coordinated healthcare program and strategy. It is serving as the prototype for incorporating the PCMH at all PCOM Healthcare Centers. The Blue Safety Net grant is helping to provide funding to engage a consulting group to assist in the process of operational and institutional change to implement the PCMH by providing electronic health record system upgrades for monitoring and reporting outcomes and to develop curriculum for senior medical, physician assistant studies and clinical psychology students using the PCMH model.

Golf Classic 2013

The College's 21st Annual Golf Classic, Title Sponsored by Independence Blue Cross, was held in September 2013 at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club. The Classic raised over $115,000 for the PCOM Healthcare Centers. These funds will provide critical health services to underserved and at-risk populations in North and West Philadelphia, Roxborough, Wynnefield Heights and Laporte, Pennsylvania, in rural Sullivan County. Special thanks to James Bonner, DO '86, and Carol A. Fox, MM, retired associate vice president for enrollment management, who co-chaired the event, and to numerous volunteers, sponsors and in-kind donors who made the outing a huge success. The College also extends sincere thanks and warm appreciation to Independence Blue Cross for their leadership support again this year.

Andrew Taylor Still Legacy Society

Named in honor of the “father of osteopathic medicine,” PCOM’s Andrew Taylor

Still Legacy Society recognizes those who have made gift provisions for the College in their estate plans. The simplest and most common planned gift is through a will or bequest; however, there are several estate plan vehicles.

Each is as unique as the donor—often enabling donors to contribute more than they thought possible and to enjoy the satisfaction of giving while increasing otherwise owe come April 15. Charitable added benefits of a life-income option and considerable flexibility to estate and tax planning. Naming PCOM as owner and beneficiary of a life insurance policy may be advantageous in carrying out the donor’s philanthropic and personal goals. The same can be said for designating the College as either a primary or contingent beneficiary of an IRA, 401(k), 403(b), Keogh or other retirement account. Donors will avoid significant income and estate tax liability.

Financial Overview

Combined financial results in Fiscal Year 2014 for Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine were strong. Net assets from operations contributed $18.8 million while net assets from non-operating activities increased $32 million. The non-operating activities' increase was primarily due to unrealized gains on the College's endowed investments. The College's total asset balance grew 8.7 percent to $399 million, while net assets increased 16.9 percent to $352 million.

Georgia Campus – Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine is in its tenth year of operations. PCOM School of Pharmacy – Georgia Campus has full enrollment and it reached its first milestone in May 2014, when the inaugural class graduated. GA-PCOM's DO class is in its third year of expansion, increasing the incoming class to 125 students.
